Henry Tietjen comes to Reno from Grass Valley, Cal., to establish a cigar manufactory. He is making arrangements to open a place in the room lately vacated by Miss Harney on Virginia street.

The Good Templars of Reno are getting up an excursion and picnic to Freeway's Park, Carson, the 15th of July. An invitation has been extended to Donner Lake Lodge of Truckee, to participate.

Mr. Jas. E. Townsend, for sometime past the spiky local itemizer of the Evening Gazette, leaves this morning for Lundy, where he has extensive mining interests, to which he will devote his attention.

The tin shop of A. Smith, at Sierraville, was discovered to be on fire yesterday morning. Smith, in the hope of saving some of his property from the building, rushed in, was overcome by the heat and smoke and perished in the flames.

A. O. U. W. Matters.

At the last session of the Supreme Lodge, A. O. U. W., Wyoming Territory was added to the Grand Lodge jurisdiction of Nevada, which now comprises Utah, Idaho and Montana. Whenever the jurisdiction shall have a membership of 2,000, they are set apart as a separate beneficiary jurisdiction (paying only their own death losses). As this is the healthiest territory in the country, the assessments necessarily will be less than of any jurisdiction in the United States.

THE EAGLE LAKE SCHEME.

Pete Marker's Grand Enterprise—Eventually a Benefit to Reno.

The Susanville Advocate of the 24th, says "A leading enterprise, from which, when completed, this county and the country to which it is tributary will derive untold benefits is that being prosecuted by Capt. C. A. Merrill and Peter N. Marker, under the name of the Lassen Flume and Land Company, the object of which is the tapping of Eagle Lake (which lies at an altitude of 5,130 feet, near the geographical center of the county), twelve feet beneath its surface at low water-mark with a tunnel and cuts 7,424 feet long, eight feet wide by six feet high in the clear, with a grade of one-half inch to the red, or 18 1/2 feet fall in its entire length, which will flow seven hundred and eighty millions gallons of water every twenty-four hours. Assuming that it takes thirty-six hundred gallons of water every twenty-four hours for a month, to irrigate an acre of land (which is more than the farmers of Lassen county use on an average), the great volume of water which will pass through that tunnel will furnish a quantity sufficient to irrigate two hundred thousand acres of land equally as much or more than would a rainfall of twelve inches in three months (the period of time which the farmers here generally irrigate), because much of the moisture thus derived runs off into the streams and does little good. At Albion, a small place started at the head of Willow Creek valley, the tunnel outlet discharges the water into the extreme head of Willow Creek, the channel of which is sufficiently large to carry this in addition to its natural flow of water, and through which it is conveyed along the northeast side of Willow Creek valley to Belfast, a town which has been started at the north side of Honey Lake valley, where the former intersects the latter. From this channel, about one and a half miles north of Belfast, the water will be taken with flumes and ditches, and conveyed east and west around the borders of Honey Lake valley at sufficient altitude to reclaim from one hundred to one hundred and fifty thousand acres of desert land which to-day, for the want of water, are comparatively worthless, and which with water will become equally as valuable as any of the farms which are now being worked in the center of this large tract of land and irrigated with water taken from the Susan river, which farms are worth from fifteen to twenty dollars per acre. It is no guess work to state that these desert lands will, with water, become equally as valuable as those above alluded to, which are located along the banks of the natural streams, for there are farms at Belfast now being worked which, but a year or two since, were covered with sage brush, that have been reclaimed with the surplus water which flows down Willow Creek, which the Company have diverted therefrom by means of a flume one and a half miles long, six by six feet square in the clear, beginning north of and discharging at Belfast, thence conveyed by ditches to the places desired. On these ranches there can now be seen growing alfalfa, corn, wheat, potatoes, all kinds of garden vegetables, currants, gooseberries, raspberries, and shade trees. Hence it is only a question of when water can be had in sufficient quantity, that that great majority of the lands of Honey Lake valley, now covered with sage brush, will be transformed into profitable farms, yielding products in as great a variety and as abundantly as any lands now being worked.

Around the south and west shores of the lake vast forests of the very best quality of spruce, pine, and fir timber exists. The logs or lumber can be floated across the lake to the tunnel, through which they can be passed, and at the outlet be received into a V flume which the Company intend to build along the south side of Willow Creek valley to Belfast, which will be about twenty-six miles in length, through which they estimate they can float lumber to the north edge of Honey Lake valley at a transportation cost of fifteen cents per thousand feet. This estimate includes interest on the capital necessary to build the flume. From here they expect to ship it to the State of Nevada and other points on the N. & O. R. R., which it is confidently expected will, in the near future, be completed into this valley.

With the water that floats the lumber motive power for manufacturing purposes at Belfast is furnished, and the opportunity will doubtless be improved by the erection of saw and blind factories, planing mills, wolverine mills and others, any of which can be made to pay.

Laborers are in great demand in the country, where from $2 to $2.50 per day is paid. San Francisco tramps prefer the sea breeze and cold victuals, with other concomitants of metropolitan life, to 60 days of hard work in the country and $120 to $250 at the end of that term. As a result, the despised Chinaman is brought into service and bears off the coin.

Habeas Corpus Case.

On Saturday last a habeas corpus case was before the Supreme Court. It was a peculiar affair, and interesting, when the subject, a fair young girl of some thirteen summers is considered. It appears that the father of the child gave her and her brother unconditionally to her aunt, Mrs. H. A. Farmer, of Virginia City. This was in 1873, since which time the boy died and all the kindness that could be lavished by a fond mother has been bestowed on the girl by Mrs. Farmer. From testimony adduced it appears at the time that Penso, the father, gave the children away he was in indigent circumstances, but that since he has picked up, married again and made him a comfortable home in Oakland, Cal., and now seeks to take the child from those who loved her in infancy. The court held that if the father was ascertained to be a suitable person to have charge of the child she must be awarded him, but concluded to retain possession of the girl until the father should be produced and questioned by the court. The father appeared yesterday morning and was given the custody of the girl. She was very unwilling to go and filled the Capitol with her screams when he took her away.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly.

The July number fully maintains the high character of this periodical. "The First Century of the English Mission," is contributed by Hon. John Bigelow, and has portraits of all the Ministers who have represented this country at the Court of St. James. Alfred H. Guernsey has an article, "A year with the Maoria"; M. E. Sherwood one, "Shoes and their History"; N. Robinson one on the "City of the Catalans"; Professor J. D. Whitney a very interesting one, "The Earth's Treeless Region," all finely illustrated. "The History of Money" abounds with interesting information and has twenty-seven illustrations. Richard B. Kimball has an admirable article on "Ralph Waldo Emerson," and there are besides, sketches, etc., by other popular writers; several poems, many of them beautifully illustrated; serial and short stories by Inde Walter E. McCann, W. G. Zoigler, Jane G. Austin, N. D. Urner, etc., etc. The 128 quarto pages present a rare literary treat; they contain over 100 engravings, and the frontispiece, "Learning to Paddle," is a production from the painting by R. Epp. The price is only 35 cents per number, or $3 a year, postpaid. Address Frank Leslie, 52, 55 and 57 Park Place, New York.

White Man's Laundry.

James Mitchell has started a laundry just below town on the bank of the river. He employs nothing but white labor, and most respectfully asks that the citizens give him the work that the Chinamen are doing. He guarantees satisfaction, and now, if the people are anxious to rid the town of Chinese laundries, let them give Mr. Mitchell a chance to do the work. He runs a wagon and will call for and deliver to any part of the city. His terms are low, and orders left at the Western Hotel, Lafayette House, or J. E. Fowle's harness shop will be promptly attended to.

Hunter Fair.

Senator Jas. G. Fair was a passenger for San Francisco on Sunday evening's overland train. In reply to a question about the Northern mail route, he candidly stated that when the Postmaster General asked him about it, he said he did not think the people needed a daily service. We do not wonder now that the route remains a weekly. But Senator Fair ought to improve his spare time by ascertaining the merits of the case and then he would be able to do something for his constituents.

Compound sage powder for constipation for sale by Osburn & Shoemaker.

Clever Retort.

The Club was standing in front of Neaby's discussing the political situation. The California Democratic nominations was the theme. Somebody said Rosencrans was a "crank." "Maybe," says Gen. Kittrell, "but the Republicans have Guiteau." Charley Stoddard, who was holding up an awning post, quietly remarked: "Yes, but we are going to drop him next Friday."

Jake Spickert, of Genoa, has for some months been suspected of criminal intimacy with his sister Annie. On last Friday, it being evident that the young girl would soon be a mother, complaint was made some of the neighbors, and on Saturday Spickert and his sister were arrested and brought to Genoa. Spickert had his examination Tuesday and was committed to jail under $8,000 bonds to await the action of a Grand Jury. The girl says she came here from the East last September and has been keeping house for her brother in a small cabin in Jacks Valley, where their unnatural intercourse began shortly after her arrival. Jake is about 26 years of age and his sister is 18. The latter is of rather prepossessing appearance, and has had the advantage of more than a common school education.

Since the suicide of Charles Gummer, Receiving Teller of the Bank of California, some weeks ago, it has transpired that the deceased was a defaulter in a very large amount. None of the city papers seem able to obtain information as to the exact amount, but in mercantile circles the estimate is considerably over $100,000. The bank officials preserve a rigid secrecy.

Captain C. B. Blethen, prominently known in mining and real estate circles, dropped dead in San Francisco, yesterday on the street. His death is attributed to heart disease. The deceased was 50 years of age and leaves a wife and several children.

There are about 3,000 Crow Indians between the Tongue and Powder rivers. They are very insolent and killing cattle. Trouble is apprehended at any moment.

Ex-Governor Hartnutt was thrown from his horse during a Masonic parade in Philadelphia Sunday and was severely injured.

"You are as full of airs as a music box," is what a young man said to a girl who refused to let him see her home. "That may be," was the reply; "but I don't go with a crank."—[Waif.]

"A fellow must sow his wild oats, you know," exclaimed the adolescent John. "Yes," replied Annie, "but one shouldn't begin so soon after cradling."—[Boston Transcript.]

Tom Barnett intends to give the people a benefit, no more nor less than a grand clearance sale of his immense stock of boots and shoes, furnishing goods, etc. The sale will commence on the 4th of June and continue ninety days.
